

Gaura lindheimeri 'Whirling Butterflies'

Whirling Butterflies Gaura

DESCRIPTION

'Whirling Butterflies' is a compact, clump-forming, vase-shaped perennial with wiry, arching red stems, pink flower buds and 4-petaled snow white flowers which appear in long, terminal, wand-like panicles above the foliage over a very long late spring to autumn bloom period.

Flowers open only a few at a time, and dance in the wind like butterflies, hence the cultivar name.
