

Veronica longifolia 'Eveline'

Speedwell Eveline

DESCRIPTION

Dense, erect, top-tapered spikes of tiny violet to purple-red flowers bloom from late spring to late summer on 'Eveline' veronica.

This speedwell has an upright, neat form and has dark green, lance-shaped leaves.

Summer brings tall, dense spikes of small, tubular flowers.

The flowers are lightly fragrant, attractive to bees, and good for cutting.

In the fall, the leaves turn a deep purple-red hue.
